group discussion email settings

- Digest - Get all comments on group discussions bundled in a daily or weekly email (the frequency is configured on your 'my account' page).
- Individual Email - Get an email instantly when someone starts a new topic in this group, and whenever someone replies. You will not get a second notification email about a topic until you've visited the discussion. Warning: for larger groups, this could get a little bit out of control!
- Notification only - Don't get any emails, just get notifications on your homepage of new discussion comments in this group.
- None - Do not get any notifications about group discussions. You can change this later on the 'my account' page.

- a. If you select “Digest” and would like to set your preferences in My Account, click the downward-facing arrow next to your profile pic (or next to the generic reader avatar if you have not yet uploaded a picture) and click “edit profile.”

- b. Click the emails tab. In this tab you will be able to set how often you'd like to receive email from Goodreads. Under Group Email Preferences, you will see the groups you belong to listed on the left and how often you've opted to receive updates about this group on the right. If you select "Digest" you will need to select "Daily" or "Weekly" from the drop-down menu.
