On September 7, 2022, 1,642 out of 1,955 (84%) identified domestic violence programs in the United States participated in a national count of domestic violence services conducted by the National Network to End Domestic Violence (NNEDV). The survey also includes data from the National Domestic Violence Hotline and NNEDV’s WomensLaw Email Hotline. The following figures represent the information shared by the participating programs about the services they provided during the 24-hour survey period.

79,335 Victims Served
44,882 adult and child victims of domestic violence found refuge in emergency shelters, transitional housing, hotels, motels, or other housing provided by local domestic violence programs.

34,453 adult and child victims received non-residential supportive services related to legal needs, housing advocacy, transportation, mental health, public benefits, and more.

23,332 Hotline Contacts Received
Domestic violence hotlines are lifelines for victims in danger, providing support, information, safety planning, and resources via phone, chat, text, and email. Local, state, and territorial hotline staff received 20,747 contacts; NNEDV's WomensLaw Email Hotline received 8 emails; and the National Domestic Violence Hotline received 2,577 contacts. Altogether, all local, state, territorial, and national hotline staff received an average of more than 16 contacts every minute of the survey day.

9,882 People Educated
On the survey day, local domestic violence programs provided 521 public training sessions (educational sessions provided to the public) to 9,882 people, addressing topics like domestic violence prevention and early intervention. Community education is essential to raising awareness about domestic violence and promoting resources that are available to victims and survivors.

12,692 Unmet Requests for Services
Victims made 12,692 requests for services on the survey day—including emergency shelter, housing, hotel vouchers, childcare, and legal representation—that programs could not provide because they did not have the resources. Approximately 53% of these unmet requests were for emergency shelter, hotels, motels, and other housing.

Survivors and their children need a safe place to stay as they escape abuse and rebuild their lives. Programs need increased funding to provide shelter, housing, trainings, and other services to all survivors seeking help, while also working toward preventing violence in their communities.

From a Wisconsin advocate: “Violence is happening across our nation every day. The services we provide are critical and lifesaving, from crisis intervention to education and prevention. When survivor support services are funded, it keeps our communities healthy and safe.”
