Our Mission

The National Network to End Domestic Violence (NNEDV), a social change organization, is dedicated to creating a social, political, and economic environment in which violence against women no longer exists.

Our Vision

- : Making domestic violence a national priority.
- : Changing the way society responds to domestic violence.
- : Strengthening domestic violence advocacy at every level.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR LEADERSHIP

November 2023

Dear NNEDV friends and supporters,

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I am pleased to present our 2022 Annual Report. At its very essence, NNEDV is a social change organization. Our dedicated team works to make domestic violence a national priority, to change the way society responds to domestic violence, and to strengthen advocacy at every level. Our theme of Moving Ahead Together demonstrates the combined power of NNEDV and our member coalitions to deliver on our mission to create a world in which violence against women and all individuals no longer exists.

NNEDV was established to be the leading national voice for survivors and to promote critical federal legislation.

Last year was another successful year for our advocacy efforts. In 2022, our top legislative priority for NNEDV and our member coalitions was the reauthorization of the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA), and we celebrated its passage in March. The bipartisan legislation included groundbreaking provisions to strengthen and modernize the law, toward the goal of ensuring all victims are served and supported. VAWA included critical housing protections, economic justice, and non-discrimination provisions; restored tribal sovereignty to hold non-native perpetrators accountable; and made important investments in culturally specific service providers.

The fiscal year 2022 omnibus appropriations bill reflected much-needed increases for NNEDV's priorities, including the Family Violence Prevention and Services Act (FVPSA) and the Victims of Crime Act (VOCA). These investments will help make significant strides towards filling in the gaps in services and ensure survivors have access to the full spectrum of resources and options they need to protect themselves and heal after violence and abuse.

In 2022, NNEDV was compelled to condemn the Supreme Court ruling in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization. For domestic violence survivors, abortion access is a matter of safety; all people, including survivors, deserve full control over their lives and decisions, including the ability to safely and freely decide whether or not to become, or stay, pregnant. NNEDV and our member coalitions continue to address the impacts of this decision on the work we do with survivors experiencing reproductive and sexual abuse and coercion and to advocate that Congress act to protect access to abortion for everyone.

NNEDV is comprised of 56 state and territorial coalitions that in turn support nearly 2,000 local shelters and providers. In a given day, almost 80,000 people receive life-changing services within our network—services like counseling appointments, nights in a shelter, legal representation at child custody hearings, and assistance finding housing.

Our work is imperative and together we will continue to respond to the public health epidemic of domestic violence.

Our 2022 audit was finalized this past September and we are proud to report that NNEDV is in a strong financial position, which ensures our work will continue for many years to come. We invite you to learn more about our work as highlighted in this Annual Report and to follow NNEDV on social media to stay current on our work throughout the year.

OUR TEAMS

Capacity Technical Assistance NNEDV.org/Coalitions

We provide comprehensive, specialized consultation, assistance, and training to coalitions, Family Violence Prevention and Services Act (FVPSA) state administrators, and local programs to help them best address survivors' needs.

Domestic Violence Counts NNEDV.org/DVCounts

Since 2006, we've conducted an annual, unduplicated count of adults and children seeking services from U.S. domestic violence programs during a single 24-hour period. The Domestic Violence Counts Report informs local and national policy decisions by providing a snapshot of the services people received, requested, and were turned away from due to lack of resources.

Economic Justice NNEDV.org/E/

We strengthen advocates' financial expertise to help domestic violence survivors move from short-term safety to long-term security. Through our Independence Project, we provide credit-building micro-loans to survivors of financial abuse.

Housing NNEDV.org/Housing

Domestic violence is a leading cause of homelessness among women and children. We support transitional housing programs across the country, provide training and program development, and advocate for improved housing-related policies. We also work with national and federal agency partners to increase awareness, services, and accessibility for survivors.

Positively Safe NNEDV.org/ PositivelySafe

We address the intersection of domestic violence and HIV/AIDS by developing and providing toolkits, training, and technical assistance to national, state, and local organizations working to address the unique challenges and barriers faced by domestic violence survivors living with, and at risk for, HIV/AIDS.

Public Policy NNEDV.org/Policy

We put domestic violence at the forefront of the national agenda and amplify the voices of survivors, advocates, programs, and coalitions on Capitol Hill and with the Administration. We work closely with our members to understand the ongoing and emerging needs of domestic violence victims and advocacy programs and to ensure those needs are heard and understood by policymakers at the national level.

Safety Net TechSafety.org

We focus on the intersection of technology, privacy, confidentiality, and innovation by educating and training advocates and professionals in the justice system, and by working with communities, agencies, and technology companies to respond to technology abuse, support survivors in their use of tech, and harness tech to improve services.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE COUNTS

For the seventeenth consecutive year, NNEDV conducted our Domestic Violence Counts Survey: a one-day, unduplicated count of adults and children seeking domestic violence services in the United States. Each year, our Domestic Violence Counts Report summarizes this data and is instrumental in raising awareness about domestic violence and the work local programs do every day, providing lifesaving services to survivors and their families. Policymakers, journalists, national experts, and advocates at every level rely on NNEDV's annual Domestic Violence Counts Report to understand survivors' urgent needs, the issues and barriers domestic violence programs face providing services to victims, and the funding and policy changes necessary to make sure programs have the resources to meet survivors' needs for safety, security, and healing.

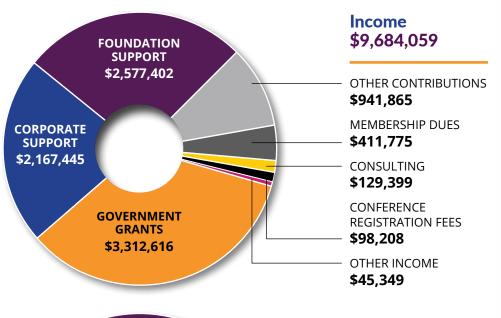

The 17th Annual Domestic Violence Counts Report found that, on September 7, 2022, 79,335 adult and child victims of domestic violence received lifesaving services from local domestic violence programs. Tragically, on the same day, programs were unable to meet 12,692 requests for services because they lacked sufficient resources. The report also outlined necessary policy changes that can help programs and survivors.
