Our Mission

The National Network to End Domestic Violence (NNEDV), a social change organization, is dedicated to creating a social, political, and economic environment in which violence against women no longer exists.

Our Vision

- Making domestic violence a national priority.
- ★ Changing the way society responds to domestic violence.
- Strengthening domestic violence advocacy at every level.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR LEADERSHIP

December 2024

Dear NNEDV friends and supporters,

On behalf of the Board of Directors, we are pleased to present our 2023 Annual Report. Our team of staff and supporters has spent another year working hard to make domestic violence a national priority, to change the way society responds to domestic violence, and to strengthen domestic violence advocacy at every level.

Last year was particularly exciting as we returned to hosting in-person events following three years of the COVID-19 pandemic. Our team welcomed hundreds of attendees to our Economic Justice Summit and Advocacy Days in Washington, DC, to our Technology Summit in San Francisco, CA, and to our Annual Meeting & Leadership Summit in Chandler, AZ. In between, we traveled across the country and even around the world to provide training and technical assistance, build community, and strengthen our movement.

2023 also brought a number of significant Supreme Court cases impacting survivors, most notably United States v. Rahimi, which struck down 30 years of federal law prohibiting those under a domestic violence protective order from possessing firearms. Domestic violence and firearms are a lethal combination, and NNEDV was proud to join nearly 60 domestic violence organizations in an amicus brief urging the Court to protect survivors and overturn this egregious decision — which they did this past June.

Even so, the Rahimi decision reminds us that our work is far from over. This year, we recognized the grim first anniversary of the Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, which ended the 50-year constitutional right to abortion. Tens of millions of people have been impacted by the decision to take away a fundamental human right to reproductive and bodily autonomy. Among these numbers are survivors and victims of domestic violence, who often decide to seek an abortion as a matter of safety. NNEDV remains committed to working toward a world where survivors and all of us enjoy full control over our own bodies and lives.

NNEDV's membership of the 56 state and territorial domestic violence coalitions support more than 2,000 local programs across the country. On any given day, tens of thousands of people receive life-changing services within our network — services like counseling, shelter, legal support, housing, and more that help them heal and find hope. In the face of dire funding cuts that endanger survivors and programs, our work continues, thanks to supporters like you.

Our 2023 audit was finalized in September 2024, and we are proud to report that NNEDV is in a strong financial position, which ensures our work will continue for many years to come. We invite you to learn more about NNEDV's great work, highlighted throughout this report and at NNEDV.org, to follow us on social media, and to stay connected with our work all year long.

In peace and safety,

Stephanie Love-Patterson

We provide comprehensive, specialized consultation, assistance, and training to coalitions, Family Violence Prevention and Services Act (FVPSA) state administrators, and local programs to help them best address survivors' needs.

Since 2006, we've conducted an annual, unduplicated count of adults and children seeking services from U.S. domestic violence programs during a single 24-hour period. The Domestic Violence Counts Report informs local and national policy decisions by providing a snapshot of the services people received, requested, and were turned away from due to a lack of resources.

We strengthen advocates' financial expertise to help domestic violence survivors move from short-term safety to long-term security. Through our Independence Project, we provide credit-building microloans to survivors of financial abuse.

Domestic violence is a leading cause of homelessness among women and children. We support transitional housing programs across the country, provide training and program development, and advocate for improved housing-related policies. We also work with national and federal agency partners to increase awareness, services, and accessibility for survivors.

We address the intersection of domestic violence and HIV/AIDS by developing and providing toolkits, training, and technical assistance to national, state, and local organizations working to address the unique challenges and barriers faced by domestic violence survivors living with and at risk for HIV/AIDS.

We put domestic violence at the forefront of the national agenda and amplify the voices of survivors, advocates, programs, and coalitions on Capitol Hill and with the Administration. We work closely with our members to understand the ongoing and emerging needs of domestic violence victims and advocacy programs and to ensure those needs are heard and understood by policymakers at the national level.

We focus on the intersection of technology, privacy, confidentiality, and innovation by educating and training advocates and professionals in the justice system and by working with communities, agencies, and technology companies to respond to technology abuse, support survivors in their use of tech, and harness tech to improve services.

We provide free, individualized, and confidential legal information and support in both English and Spanish for survivors, their advocates, and their loved ones through the WomensLaw Email Hotline and state- and territory-specific, plain-language legal information and resources on WomensLaw.org.

INDEPENDENCE PROJECT LOANS

Borrowers took out microloans to improve their credit scores and work toward financial independence through the Independence Project, our credit-building initiative.

1,706

INDIVIDUALIZED CONSULTATIONS

Survivors, local programs, coalitions, and others received in-depth problem-solving and support addressing specific, complex issues that cross our multiple areas of expertise.

6,361

WOMENSLAW EMAIL HOTLINE CONVERSATIONS

Our team of legal professionals helped victims and their friends, families, and advocates through the free WomensLaw Email Hotline.

21,143

PEOPLE TRAINED

People brought critical information and skills back to their colleagues, coworkers, and communities after attending an NNEDV training.

166,907

RESOURCES DOWNLOADED

Coalitions, local programs, survivors, national partners, and other visitors downloaded tip sheets, fact sheets, toolkits, sample policies, and other resources.

2023 HIGHLIGHTS

JANUARY 3: The 118th Congress was seated, and our Public Policy team greeted them at the Capitol with packets outlining NNEDV's mission and policy priorities.

FEBRUARY 1: We hosted a Q&A session with Uber on "Survivor Privacy and Safety in Rideshare" and released a new resource: Using Uber: Safety & Privacy
Considerations for Survivors.

FEBRUARY 8: Then-President & CEO Deborah J. Vagins joined Members of Congress and leaders from anti-gun violence organizations at a press conference on Capitol Hill to denounce the United States Supreme Court's United States v. Rahimi decision.

MARCH 16: We launched the 17th Annual Domestic Violence Counts Report during a bipartisan congressional briefing, in cooperation with Representatives Rosa DeLauro (D-CT), Brian Fitzpatrick (R-PA), Lucy McBath (D-GA), and Gwen Moore (D-WI), debuting data from our annual survey of local domestic violence programs.

APRIL 6: We launched our first Korean-language content on WomensLaw.org: two Quick Guides for survivors on Divorce Basics and Custody Basics.

APRIL 23: In partnership with Futures Without Violence, we launched season three of our Expanding the Continuum podcast, exploring the intersection of patriarchal violence and HIV.

APRIL 25-27: We held our 6th Annual Economic Justice Summit in Washington, DC, with more than 190 attendees discussing strategies to help survivors stay connected to resources, create and maintain safety plans, and stay afloat during tough economic times.

APRIL 26: Our Economic Justice and Domestic Violence Advisory Council released advocate compensation recommendations calling for a living wage for all domestic violence employees, including advocates, many of whom are also survivors.

APRIL 28: For the first time, we translated documents in our Transitional Housing Toolkit into Arabic, French, Lingala, and Brazilian Portuguese.

MAY 2: Apple and Google teamed up to jointly submit a proposed industry specification to help combat the misuse of Bluetooth location-tracking devices. We're proud to have consulted on these developments.

MAY 4: In partnership with the AIDS Foundation of Chicago, SisterLove, Inc., the Positive Women's Network, and Futures Without Violence, we held the first of four listening sessions to hear the experiences of Black women living with HIV who have experienced domestic violence, along with advocates working in the domestic violence and HIV fields.

MAY 25: The Biden administration released the United States' first National Plan to End Gender-Based Violence: Strategies for Action. We played a critical role as a thought leader, contributor, and coordinator of U.S. civil society efforts in its development.

JUNE 6-7: We hosted our annual Advocacy Days in Washington, DC, in partnership with the National Alliance to End Sexual Violence, welcoming more than 150 attendees to Capitol Hill. Our organizations' shared priority this year was securing increased federal funding.

JUNE 21: With Esperanza United, we launched the Reimagining Enhanced Access and Capacity of the Hotline (REACH) Project Hub in English and Spanish to enhance and expand WomensLaw's capacity to help Latin@ survivors.

JUNE 29: We marked one year since the Supreme Court's Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization decision, which ended the federal constitutional right to an abortion, reflecting on the decision's impacts on survivors.

JULY 16-26: We traveled to Rwanda to attend the Women Deliver Conference and meet with the Rwanda Women's Network as we developed a new training curriculum for the Rwanda Ministry of Health and the Rwanda Ministry of Gender and Family Promotion.

JULY 17-19: We held our Technology Summit 2023 in San Francisco, CA, welcoming more than 300 attendees to address the intersection of technology and domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, and trafficking.

AUGUST 15-17: We hosted our "Beyond the Basics of Voluntary Services" transitional housing training in New Orleans, LA, with nearly 100 participants assessing how to engage survivors while centering their voices and agency.

AUGUST 21: We joined nearly 60 domestic violence organizations in a Rahimi amicus brief elevating victims' and survivors' experiences with gun violence and domestic violence.

SEPTEMBER 6: We held our Domestic Violence Counts survey day in preparation for the 18th Annual Domestic Violence Counts Report, with more than 1,600 local programs participating.

SEPTEMBER 12: We were honored as a beneficiary of the Kering Foundation's second annual Caring for Women Dinner, with funds benefiting our Independence Project microloan initiative.

OCTOBER 1: In partnership with the Pennsylvania Coalition Against Domestic Violence, we kicked off the third year of our #Every1KnowsSome1 campaign for Domestic Violence Awareness Month and our #GiveForDV giving coalition for GivingTuesday.

OCTOBER 12-13: With the Office of Family Violence Prevention and Services, the STTARS Indigenous Safe Housing Center, and the National Resource Center on Domestic Violence, we hosted a Housing Roundtable to discuss safe housing solutions for survivors.

OCTOBER 26: With the Alliance for Immigrant Survivors, we co-hosted a congressional briefing for the Working for Immigrant Safety and Empowerment (WISE) Act. Representative Pramila Jayapal (D-WA) gave opening remarks.

NOVEMBER 7: We co-led a rally at the Supreme Court ahead of Rahimi oral arguments, calling on the court to overturn the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals' dangerous decision.

NOVEMBER 14: Through a partnership with NNEDV and TechSoup, Norton announced a donation of up to 5,000 free product licenses to help survivors recover from financial or technological abuse

NOVEMBER 29-30: We hosted our Annual Meeting and Leadership Summit in Chandler, AZ, bringing more than 80 coalition leaders together for this annual convening and the first in-person Executive Directors of Color meeting beforehand. During the Annual Meeting, we presented the 2023 DREAM Award to Norma Rendon of South Dakota.

DECEMBER 7: In partnership with Ring, we announced the second year of the Ring Donation Program for Domestic Violence Survivors, which will provide 10,000 more devices to eligible organizations supporting survivors.

DECEMBER 12: We spoke at a Financial Abuse Roundtable on Capitol Hill hosted by the Bipartisan Task Force to End Sexual Violence alongside colleagues from The Allstate Foundation, Futures Without Violence, and the National Domestic Violence Hotline.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE COUNTS

For the eighteenth consecutive year, NNEDV conducted our Domestic Violence Counts Survey: a one-day, unduplicated count of adults and children seeking domestic violence services in the United States.

Each year, our Domestic Violence Counts Report summarizes this data and is instrumental in raising awareness about domestic violence and the work local programs do every day, providing lifesaving services to survivors and their families.

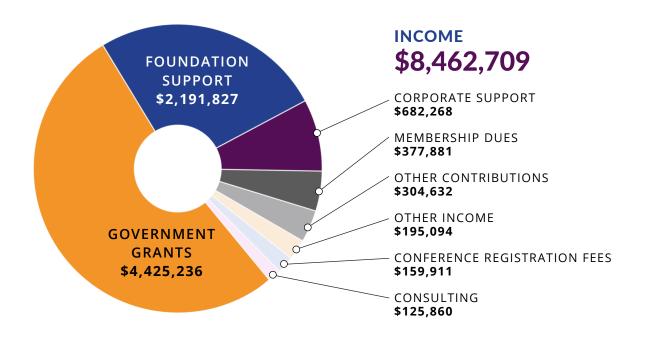

Policymakers, journalists, national experts, and advocates at every level rely on the Domestic Violence Counts Report to understand survivors' urgent needs, the issues and barriers domestic violence programs face, and the funding and policy changes that can make a difference.

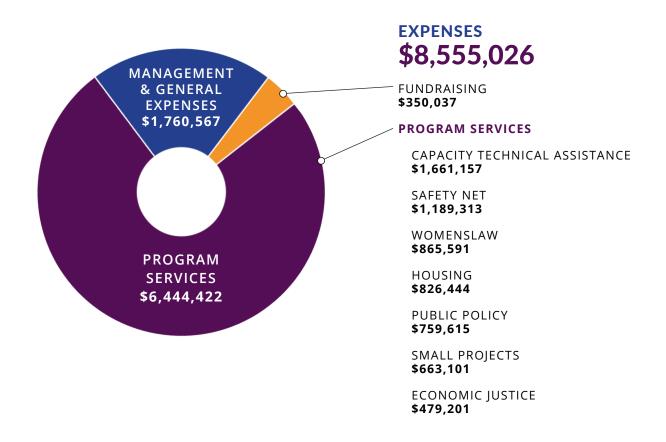

The 18th Annual Domestic Violence Counts Report found that, on September 6, 2023, 76,975 adult and child victims of domestic violence received services from local domestic violence programs. Tragically, on the same day, programs were unable to meet 13,335 requests for services because they lacked sufficient resources.

2023 FINANCIALS
